Career growth

Consider this: When exploring careers, WHAT you want to do is only part of the story. Also consider WHERE you want to do it. If you want to be an engineer but are passionate about the environment, consider being an engineer at a renewable energy company. If you are interested in a career in finance but want to work in the healthcare industry, consider working as an accountant for a doctor's office or hospital.

In addition to choosing your career path, explore employers that have opportunities available in your field. You might be surprised with what you find.

Starting your journey back to college

If you're an adult who is considering going back to school, chances are you are juggling a lot—a full-time job, family, tight budget, and an already full plate of responsibilities. But, we are here to help. Whether you are looking to complete a college degree, certificate, or credential for the first time, or you are going back to school to start a new career path, here's some advice.

FIND YOUR “WHY.”

Whether you are seeking the personal feeling of accomplishment that comes with completing college or looking to increase your earning potential, it is important to identify why you are going back to school. This will not only keep you motivated when times get tough, but it will keep you focused and on track toward earning your college credential.

FIND YOUR COLLEGE FIT.

Explore the types of colleges and degrees offered to determine the college that will fit your needs as an adult learner. Four-year colleges and universities offer bachelor's degrees and advanced degrees such as master's and doctorates. Community colleges are often more economical and offer two-year associate degrees, industry certifications, and certificates that take less than two years to complete.

FIND A PROGRAM THAT FITS YOUR SCHEDULE.

Adult learners have a lot on their plates. Schools offer flexible and accelerated programs to meet the unique needs of adult learners including evening or weekend classes and online degree options.

APPLY FOR ADMISSION.

Complete the admission application and be prepared to pay the application fee. Separate applications may be required to be considered for college-based scholarships.

Ask Yourself...

- What interests me?
- What am I passionate about?
- How do I learn best?
- What do I want for my future?
- What type of degree am I seeking?

College Types

→ Public or private

→ Community college or four-year institution

→ Historically Black College or University

CONSIDER PROGRAMS THAT FIT YOUR SCHEDULE

Evening courses

are best for those who work during the day.

Weekend programs

offer intense coursework on weekends allowing you to earn a degree in the same time frame as a full-time student.

Accelerated programs allow you to earn a degree in a shorter amount of time.

Independent study courses

allow you to complete coursework on your own, following your instructor's criteria.

Online degree programs allow you to complete coursework, participate in discussion groups, and submit papers online.

Academic transfer programs allow you to complete up to two years of a bachelor's degree at a community college before transferring to a four-year college or university to complete the remaining two years of study.

Pathways to completing your education

Industry Certification

Industry-recognized credentials which represent demonstrated skills and knowledge in demand by employers

Example:

NCRC – National Career Readiness Certificate; Automotive Service Technician; Water Treatment Operator

Certificate

Non-degree credentials usually issued by community colleges and other higher education institutions

Example:

Apprentice Electric Lineman; Welding Technology; Heating, Air-conditioning and Refrigeration Technology; Graphic Design Technology; Practical Nursing

Degree

Undergraduate Degrees

Associate degree

Two-year degree from a community college

Example: Associate of Arts or Associate of Applied Science

Bachelor's degree

Four-year degree from a college or university

Example: Bachelor of Applied Science in Cybersecurity

Graduate and Professional Degrees

Master's degree

An advanced degree achieved with additional years of study

Example: Master of Business Administration or Master of Education in Counseling

Doctorate

The highest level of degree in most fields for research or applied professional doctorates

Example: Medical, Dentistry, Physical Therapy, or Law.

Do your homework: for-profit colleges

College is a big investment of time and money. If you plan to explore a for-profit college, consider these things to help measure your return on investment:

- Verify that your credits are eligible for transfer at a Mississippi community college or university.
- Find out if the industry certification you plan to earn is recognized and accepted by employers.
- Find out if the degree you're seeking is offered at any other college. If so, compare the total cost between the two and see how much you will have to borrow to earn your degree.

Stacking Credentials

Mississippi community colleges have a 30/45/60 stackable credential model.

30 Credit hours = Career Certificate

45 Credit hours = Technical Certificate

60 Credit hours = Associate Degree

Taking the ACT or ACCUPLACER

ACT scores are requested by most colleges and universities as a part of the admission process. Your results may be used for college admission, scholarships and academic advising. For certain academic programs such as nursing, there may be an ACT subscore minimum requirement.

The ACCUPLACER test may satisfy the entrance exam requirement for adults. This test evaluates students' abilities in reading, writing and math. Results are used to place students in academic or career-technical programs to maximize success. Check with your college to see if this is an option for you.

Your degree may be closer than you think

If you have Mississippi public college credits, Complete 2 Compete (C2C) is a statewide program focused on helping Mississippi adults who have completed some college—but not a degree—finish the requirements necessary to complete a college education. There's even financial aid assistance for those who qualify. For more information visit msc2c.org.

This program is designed for the Mississippi adult learner who:

- Is 21 years of age or older
- Has attended a public college or university in Mississippi
- Has earned at least 12 hours of college credit but has not yet earned a bachelor's degree
- Has been out of college for at least two years

Adult learners will be able to finish their degree and eliminate many of the typical barriers to enrollment.

Mississippi's eight public universities, 15 public community colleges, and the University of Mississippi Medical Center (UMMC) all participate in the Complete to Compete program.

Reverse Transfer

Reverse Transfer allows students who have transferred from a community college to a public university with at least 16 transferable credits to transfer credits earned at the four-year institution back to the community college. These reverse transfer credits count toward earning an associate degree, which gives students an additional credential and improves employability.

The Reverse Transfer Process is simple. Once you have completed at least one semester at the university, request the university send your transcript back to the community college you attended. Contact the registrar at the community college you attended and ask them to analyze your transcript with the credits you earned at both institutions to determine if you are eligible to receive an associate degree.

Community college students who plan to transfer to a four-year college or university should be aware of the transfer requirements that may apply in their particular situation or program of study. These requirements vary with ACT score, high school preparation, high school GPA, and the individual transfer college.

Students may take freshman and sophomore level transferable academic courses while at a community college. Generally, one-half of the hours required for a bachelor's degree may be transferred from a community college and applied to that degree at a four-year college or university.

It is important to choose courses wisely. The Mississippi Articulation and Transfer Tool website (matttransfertools.com) has been created to ensure that those seeking transfer to a Mississippi public four-year institution select the correct courses. It is essential that community college students meet with their community college academic advisor on a regular basis and refer to the articulation agreement when making community college course selections.

COMPLETING THE APPLICATION

- Know the information you will need to complete the FAFSA. Take time to gather these items beforehand. Find these documents on our website: <https://get2college.org/fafsa-federal-aid>
- If you get an error message while in the FAFSA, don't stress! Log out, clear your cache or try a different browser, and log back in. The FAFSA technology requires the browser history and cache to be cleared for a smooth submission process.

If you are a dependent student, you must use a parent's income information.

- If your biological parents are married (regardless of filing status), you will use both parents' information.
- If your parents are divorced or separated, the FAFSA instructs you to use the parent with whom you lived more during the past 12 months. Yes, stepparents are included on your FAFSA, so if your parent is remarried AS OF THE DAY you submit your FAFSA, you will use stepparent income and assets as well.

Tutorials for completing the FAFSA and MS Aid Applications can be found on our YouTube channel, or ask Cha-Ching, our 24/7 chatbot, any questions you have!

After submitting the FAFSA - Complete the MS Aid Application

When you submit your FAFSA, you will get a confirmation page. Don't close it! You will see a link to transfer your information to the MS Aid Application (MAAPP) and some of your information will be pre-populated within that form. You may need to pay attention to your browser's pop-up blocker for this to happen.

If you provided your email address in the FAFSA, you will receive a confirmation email once you submit and a few days later another confirmation email that the FAFSA is completed; this means the FAFSA information has been sent to the colleges.

After you submit your MAAPP, you will receive an email to create your log-in information for an online account. You will need this information to access the MAAPP online dashboard to access the status of your Mississippi Aid Application.

However, you may receive an award letter by mail. You should determine which of the awards you will accept and which you will decline.

You don't have to accept the entire loan amount!

It is good practice to only accept the dollar amount you need for your educational expenses each year.

Loans beyond college

Students who have previously enrolled in college may have prior student loans that are now in default. The following options can help you get out of default and/or regain eligibility for federal student aid.

Loan Rehabilitation

To rehabilitate defaulted federal student loans, you must sign an agreement to make a series of nine monthly payments over a period of 10 consecutive months. The monthly payment amount you'll be offered will be based on your income, so it should be affordable. In fact, your monthly payment under a loan rehabilitation agreement could be as low as $5! Each payment must be made within 20 days of the due date. Loans can only be rehabilitated once.

Loan consolidation Loan consolidation allows you to pay off your defaulted federal student loans by consolidating (combining) your loans into a new Direct Consolidation Loan. To consolidate a defaulted federal student loan into a new Direct Consolidation Loan, you must either agree to repay the new Direct Consolidation Loan under an income-driven repayment plan or make three consecutive, voluntary, on-time, full monthly payments on the defaulted loan before you consolidate it.

Repayment in full is exactly as it sounds; you can repay the full amount that you owe at that time. Contact the U.S. Department of Education Default Resolution Group at 1-800-621-3115. They will help you figure out the way to resolve your default based on your individual circumstance.
